1. Define

Amhara Digital Diplomacy is a digital platform dedicated to advocating for the survival, rights, and protection of the Amhara people in Ethiopia. Our mission is to anonymously collect and disseminate verified evidence of human rights violations, including genocide, against the Amhara people. All materials, such as videos, images, and testimonials, are submitted anonymously to ensure the safety and security of those contributing. We are not interested in anyone's personal identity; our only goal is exposing the truth to end the genocide and human rights abuses targeting the Amhara ethnic group. Our platform serves as a secure digital space for exposing these crimes to the global community, encouraging action from human rights organizations, and the international diplomatic community.

2. Initial Baseline Research

To ensure that the need for confidentiality is addressed effectively, initial research focused on:

- Interviews: Engaged with human rights advocates, NGOs, and individuals affected by the Amhara conflict to understand the importance of anonymity in gathering evidence.

- Surveys: Distributed to trusted community members to assess their comfort level in sharing sensitive information anonymously.

- Feedback from Diplomats and NGOs: Discussed with international human rights bodies the challenges of verifying evidence while maintaining anonymity.

Key Findings:

- Fear of retaliation is significant for individuals sharing evidence of human rights abuses, making anonymity crucial.

- There is a strong demand for a secure platform that allows for anonymous submissions, guaranteeing the safety of participants.

- International organizations require credible, verified evidence to act but are willing to collaborate anonymously if necessary.

3. Mission and Vision

- Mission Statement: "To expose the truth of the ongoing genocide and human rights abuses against the Amhara people, while ensuring the safety and anonymity of all contributors. We aim to protect lives by securely sharing evidence with the world, advocating for urgent intervention without risking the identities of those who provide it."
